White House Is Rebuffed by Vote in Pennsylvania

CIO Defeat Imperils Democratic Chances in Keystone State

GOP VOTE GREATER

Exceeds Democratic Primary Total for Governor, Senator

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A major question now that the Pennsylvania primary is over, is whether the result lessened President Roosevelt's chances of forcing wage-hour and government reorganization bills through congress before adjournment.

Observers were agreed that defeat of the C. I. O.-backed Kennedy campaign for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, despite support of Senator Guffey, New Deal stalwart, and intervention of National Chairman Farley, represented a reverse for the White House tending to offset its claimed triumph in Florida. If wavering Democrats in senate and house take the same views it may seriously complicate the president's task of getting his preadjuournment program through.

Up to the hour of Farley's statement urging Pennsylvania Democrats to compromise on a Kennedy-for-governor and Farley-for-senate ticket, President Roosevelt had kept clear of the fight. His only known direct connection with it was his request that Senator Guffey abandon any plans for running for the governorship nomination and stay in the Senate.

The Farley harmony plan was vigorously rejected by Democratic primary voters. They chose, instead, the complete slate of the organization faction with which Guffey broke to support Kennedy.

Lewis a Major Issue

An immediate consequence of defeat of the C. I. O.-Guffey-Kennedy drive to take over party control is to leave selection of Pennsylvania's delegation to the next Democratic national convention in the hands of the Lewis-McCabe-Kelly-Earle faction which forced nomination of Charles A. Jones for governor. While no open hostility to President Roosevelt or his policies marked the primary, the winning faction made John L. Lewis and the C. I. O. a major issue against Farley's move to keep the New Deal-C. I. O. alliance intact. Farley's compromise suggestion was believed to have been prompted by threats of a C. I. O. bolt in Pennsylvania if Kennedy were defeated.

To Washington observers, the primary results looked very much like a sign of definite and far-reaching change in the Pennsylvania Democratic party. In both Democratic and Republican camps, while Farley's tactics may keep C. I. O. forces in other important industrial states aligned with New Deal candidates for governor, senator or representative, the Pennsylvania results, in observer opinion, prove to be symptomatic of a widespread sentiment with which administration election strategy will have to reckon. It is at least, a direct challenge by many Democratic voters in Pennsylvania to the New Deal-C. I. O. coalition policy which Farley urged.

Still another factor indicating trouble for the administration in other populous industrial states is the effect of the primary on the American Federation of Labor. Defeat of the C. I. O. candidate in Pennsylvania is likely to encourage the A. F. of L. to campaign vigorously against the C. I. O. wherever a C. I. O.-backed Democrat

In a Vermont town there are five men on the town council. For some reason which none of the voters have ever been able to figure out the council has a rule that on each of its committees there must always be three men.

How many separate committees can be organized in the council, none of them having the same personnel? Which men would be on each committee? For the purpose of figuring it out, let the five men be called A, B, C, D, and E.

Propaganda Probe—May Prohibit Loans to Roads That Cut Wages

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Informed officials tentatively forecast Thursday a 3-billion-400-million-dollar deficit in the fiscal year beginning July 1, as the result of the huge spending-lending program now before the congress.

That would be slightly more than double the anticipated shortage for the current year, but would be below the deficits of 1934, 1935 and 1936.

The peak peace-time deficit, swollen by bonus payments, was $4,763,842,000 in the year ending June 30, 1936.

Prote European Propaganda

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A Department of State representative told a senate committee Thursday that President Roosevelt had asked for a federal investigation of the propaganda of European nations in South America as part of a survey of international broadcasting.

H. B. Otterman, serving on the inter-departmental committee on radio information, said:

"The president has asked us to refrain from giving out information or comment until he has a chance to study it."

May Curtail R. R. Loans

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Chairman Warner, New York Democrat, said Thursday several members of the senate banking committee had suggested amending the administration bill to liberalize RFC loans to the railroads so as to prohibit loans to roads which force wage cuts.

The senate earlier recommended the bill.

Relief Stations in Chicago Close Up

City Forced to Await Financial Aid From Illinois State

CHICAGO—(AP)—All Chicago's relief stations were closed Wednesday night. All service, except medical care and the distribution of emergency rations was suspended.

General assistance, halted because the city's relief administration exhausted its funds, cannot be resumed until the state furnishes financial aid—possibly in a week or perhaps not until June 1.

Pickets gathered at six stations. Some carried signs reading: "Soak the rich and feed the poor" and "Don't starve, fight." Glumly they read placards setting forth:

"Closed until further notice. Service restricted to emergency medical care (if needed, telephone) and surplus commodities."

Some 170,000 persons received checks for May before the treasury was empty.

A skeleton staff started mailing food tickets to the other 91,000 relief recipients at the rate of 4,500 a day. These will permit the holders to obtain beans, butter, cabbage, celery, oranges and rice at depots maintained by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation. One pint of milk will be supplied each day to each child between the ages of two and 12. Those under two will be given a quart.

David E. Lilienthal, one of the directors, said he expected Morgan's request would be granted, if his inspection of the files was supervised by a TVA employee.

Dr. Morgan's demand was lodged earlier in the day with the joint congressional committee established to investigate TVA and the charges and

Suchow in Flames as Japan Claims Capture of City

A "BLOB OF SMOKE"

Jap Aviators So Describe Strategic City of Chinese Rails

CHANGHAI, China—(AP)—Large sections of Suchow were reported burning Thursday as the Japanese, claiming possession of most of the city, fought hand-to-hand with China "dare to die" units in the southern suburbs.

Japanese aviators said the strategic city, viewed from the air, was a blob of smoke created by lagged flames.

They said naval planes bombing from a low altitude scored a direct hit on what apparently was the main munitions storehouse, sending flames and smoke hundreds of feet into the air.

Bombardment of Suchow

SHANGHAI, China—(AP)—Japanese troops opened their first attack early Thursday against the walls of Suchow, junction of China's Central railways, Japanese dispatches said. The invaders assailed the southeast corner of the west wall after heavy blasting by Japanese artillery mounted on Pawanhsan mountain commanding the besieged city.

Japanese reported that almost a dozen separate forces were encircling the city for a concerted assault. In fantry had occupied Pawanhsan late Wednesday under cover of artillery fire and dug in only two miles from Suchow waiting daylight to begin the attack.

Japanese dispatches from Tokio said the west walls of Suchow were captured at 9 a. m.

Contrary to Japanese reports of a general retreat from Suchow, Chinese and the city was not even seriously threatened and that Japan's armies had done no more than "disturb" Chinese communications along the east-west Lungshai railroad. A communiqué said a Chinese counter-offensive south of Tangshan, a station 50 miles west of Suchow, had driven a Japanese column back to Yungcheng, in Honan province.

In Hankow, a Chinese spokesman said that Japan's northward drive toward Lungshai was broken by the Tangshan counter-attack and Chinese lines still were "fundamentally unbroken."

State Is Building Ferry at Dec Arc

To Be Operated Free
Against Privately-Owned Toll Bridges

LITTLE ROCK—Governor Bailey said Wednesday he had instructed the Highway Department to begin building a ferry boat to be put into operation at Dec Arc to compete with a privately-owned toll bridge spanning White river there. The boat will be operated free.

The department will begin construction of road approaches to the ferry landing immediately. Mr. Bailey said. Two weeks ago the governor authorized the Highway Department to purchase for $3,500 a ferry at Black river and operate it free in competition with a privately-owned toll bridge at Powhatan.

Installation of the ferries was ordered as a result of failure of the Dec Arc and Powhatan Bridge Company to negotiate with the state for the sale of the bridges for up to $120,000 appropriated for that purpose by the 1938 special session of the legislature.

New Ordinance to Prohibit Open Drainage of Ice-Boxes

At a special meeting of the city council Wednesday afternoon the City of Hope acquired the Elks property for the sum of $4,750. The vote for purchase of the property was unanimous. The Board of Public Affairs approved the action of the council.

The new city property will be used for concentration of various federal agencies, thereby saving $688.50 which the city pays each month for rent on various buildings that house the federal agencies.

The need for extra ground for expansion of the municipally-owned water & light plant was also a factor that prompted the purchase of the Elks hall and grounds.

The council refused to grant an appropriation for the erection and installation of flood-lights at Fair Park in order that softball teams would be able to play at night.

"Softball a Fad"

The consensus of the aldermen was that the playing of softball as a recreation was not permanent here—and probably would "fizzle out" as the summer months came on.

One alderman compared softball to miniature golf, fearing that it was a "fad" and was not permanent. Thus the council adopted a "wait and see" policy before granting an appropriation.

Softball managers of the 12 teams in the city and commercial league announced a called meeting for 8 p. m. Thursday night in the office of Earl W. Erion, WPA recreational supervisor, to work out some plan to raise money for the purchase and erection of flood lights.

Several plans are expected to be discussed at the meeting to raise the necessary amount which is approximately $650. Nearly $300 has been pledged to date.

The council also frowned on the suggestion for flood-lights for the tennis court at the Fair grounds.

Ice-Box Drainage

Other business at the special meeting was to authorize the drawing up of an ordinance to eliminate drainage of ice boxes under homes. This action was prompted by Dr. P. B. Carrigan, city health physician, in an effort to curb the breeding places of mosquitoes.

The ordinance would make it a violation of the law to allow the boxes to drain under homes. The city will employ a man to inspect homes during the summer months and to spray beneath houses in the fight against mosquitoes.

The final action of the council was to employ Miss Ruby McKee as assistant bookkeeper at the water and light plant. Miss McKee will replace Mrs. Herbert Lewallen, who has resigned. The position pays $75 per month.

The selection of Miss McKee from a group of 43 applicants came after more than an hour in which secret ballots were cast—a procedure in which the group was eliminated gradually with each counting of the votes.

A New Confession of Impotence

YOU can get an idea of the queer kind of thinking that desperate people resort to by noticing that a League of Nations commission is now formally considering the creation of neutral zones in wartime for the protection of children.

This proposition, advanced by a well-meaning delegation from Rumania, would have such neutral zones established whenever war broke out. By international agreement, the zones would not be bombed, sprayed by poison gas, or visited by any other of the distinguishing features of civilized warfare.

To these zones would be moved, en masse, all the children from the potential battle areas of the warring countries.

NOW the practical objections to this are so many and so obvious that it is hardly necessary to mention them.

The really significant thing is that the mere fact that the proposal was made indicates how desperate the human race is growing under the spur of its own failure to become civilized, and how fuzzy its thinking is under such circumstances.

No man who pretends to be civilized can look on the bombing of cities, the wholesale destruction of non-combatants, the indiscriminate attacks on densely-populated districts, without feeling the most profound horror.

But to suggest, by the way of cure, that we elaborately erect neutral zones and transport children to them by the hundreds of thousands is to confess our utter impotence to solve a problem which we ourselves created.

For the way to stop this horror, after all, is simple: stop bombing cities.

NO child was ever killed by a bomb that hit an infantry platoon, an airport, a dockyard, an arsenal, a fort, a barracks or a battleship.

Children are killed only when the generals send their bombers out to attack the districts where the children live.

It is not expecting too much of the generals to ask that they fight soldiers instead of children. After all, their descendant into barbarism has not even the saving excuse of practicality: no war and no battle has yet been won by the bombing of children. By continuing the practice, all generals convict themselves of unfitness to inhabit a civilized world.

And unless we can think of something better than neutral zones, we convict ourselves along with them.

Father's Death

A TOUGH man is dead who had a tough time of it all his life. He had the misfortune to be an individualist.

He was Carl von Ossietzky, a German, winner of the Nobel peace prize in 1936. He was 49 when he died, and he had been fighting for the cause of peace since 1912.

He had been doing most of his fighting in Germany. But he had been fighting as Carl von Ossietzky. Not as a German, not as a Communist, not as a Socialist, but simply as one of the world's citizens. Not in itself never helped him either with the Communists or the socialists, or with Hitler who lumped him with the others and jailed him with them. When he received the Nobel award he received it in a concentration camp.

He went from that camp to a hospital, and he died there.
He had never been able to use any of the prize money awarded to him.

His was a tough life with a tragic end. It was tougher than it might have been because he stuck to being simply Carl von Ossietzky. And it kept on getting tougher on that account.

And other Ossietzkys are finding that in this increasingly permeated world being wholly themselves, and themselves only, keeps right on getting tougher.

Treatment of a Sprain

The opening of the baseball season brings the usual announcement of accidents, with full accounts of all the symptoms suffered by the stars as they take up the beginning of their activities.

The reports are full of such words as knots, kinks, sprains, strains and similar terms which mean nothing very definite from the point of view of a scientific diagnosis. In most instances the trouble is a sprain.

A sprain is usually the result of a partial or complete tear of a part of the tissues of the ligament around a joint.

The muscles are fastened to the bones by ligaments. These tissues, like other tissues, contain blood vessels and nerves. The sudden pulling or tearing of a blood vessel may cause blood to pour out into the tissue, which will produce a swelling with pain on movement. The pulling of a nerve, with even small damage to the tissue of the nerve, may cause a good deal of constant pain.

In the healing of a sprain certain definite steps have to be followed.

First the blood pours into the tissue which is torn. Second, this blood clots. Third, the clot is absorbed, and fourth, healing occurs with some scarring.

The first thing, therefore, to be done in the case of a sprain is to control the amount of the bleeding as much as possible by the use of a bandage (stopping the motion of the mother; she wanted a son-in-law.

Yesterday, Roger is found, critically injured, but the joy of the discovery gives Jackie such gratitude as she has never known.

CHAPTER XVI

ROGER'S condition, result not only of the crack-up but of those two nights and days without medical attention, remained critical for some time. Newspapers held out very little hope for his recovery, especially a complete one.

Jackie spent all her time waiting for news. Nothing else mattered. She read every line in every single paper she could get.
She kept phoning the field, or driving back and forth, in hopes she might learn something more.
"Dear me!" Evelyn said, holding up her lovely hands in despair.
"You look like a former ghost of yourself, darling. You simply cannot go on like this. It is dreadful about poor Roger, of course. But it won't do for my little girl to go into a decline over him."

Jackie said she was not going into a decline. It was just like her mother to make something horrible and yet romantic out of it.
How could Evelyn guess what Jackie was going through? She had never loved anyone as Jackie loved Roger.

"Something must be done about it," Evelyn decided. She drew her lovely brow into a thoughtful frown. "Let me think..."
"There's nothing to do," Jackie said, harshly. "Except what I am doing. Wait." She did wish Evelyn would let her alone, cease trying to think up schemes and suggestions. No doubt she meant to help. But nothing could help, except the word that Roger was out of danger.

BUT the latest report remained much the same—Jackie had just returned from the field—Roger was still unconscious, slightly delirious, his condition critical. She threw herself face down on her bed. She no longer shed tears. She had spent them all in that first dreadful fit of weeping in the lonely stretches of the long nights. Oh! if only there was something she could do, some way to help. She felt so useless, so helpless. That was what made this waiting so terrible...

"I suppose I might as well send these things back to the shop," Evelyn said. She referred to the huge stack of boxes, containing the wedding dresses and veils, that she had had sent out and had insisted Jackie try. "I'm afraid we won't use them now..." she sighed. It seemed such a pity, when she had so hoped to have a June wedding, with all its glamorous trimmings, for Jackie. "At least," she added, "I suppose we can't use them for some time."

"Please, Mother!" Jackie protested. She buried her face deeper in the pillows. Why must her mother remind her of that wedding that had only been pretense, anyway, a wedding that was not supposed to have taken place, that would, indeed, never take place now? Unless Roger got well, unless Jackie could convince him that she really loved him. Even then she did not know if Roger only had been pretending all the time or not; she did not know if Roger loved her...

"I'm sorry, darling—I didn't stop to think how badly that would make you feel," Evelyn came over to sit down on the bed by Jackie's side. She leaned over, stroking back the fair hair from the young sweet brow. She could understand her daughter now, at last. Jackie was behaving the way a girl should, a girl in love. Evelyn had known that given time enough Jackie would prove as romantic as any girl. Every girl, at heart, was just the same, the wide world over—always had been and always would be.

"I know what I would do if Roger were my young man!"
Evelyn said suddenly, for Evelyn, too, was likely to have ideas of her own. "Why, once," her beautiful eyes grew misty at the memory, "when your poor dear dead father was ill, darling—though it turned out to be nothing serious then, but I thought he was dying and I was so terribly upset—I went all the way up to Schenectady in the most dreadful, the dirtiest old train and then had to drive miles and miles in a horse and buggy; of all things! But nothing, no nothing, darling, could have kept me from going to him when I thought he needed me."

JACKIE raised herself on one elbow. Why, her mother had loved someone then, just as she loved Roger now. Her mother had suffered and waited and worried.

"Did you love him, my father—so much?" Jackie asked.
Evelyn nodded; the tears that sprang into her eyes were genuine.
"More than anyone, more than life itself, darling. I shall never really love anyone again. There never is any love like the first, my dear."

Yes, Jackie could believe that.
If anything happened to Roger, if he did not get well, she would never again love anyone.
"Of course I am very fond of Paul," Evelyn said firmly, although persuading herself of this fact. She gave her eyes a gentle graceful dab. "But, darling, that isn't what I was trying to tell you.
What I meant was that if I were in love with Roger—and engaged to marry him—nothing could keep me from him—no, nothing on earth!"

"You mean you'd go to him—now?" Jackie sat up straight.
Her mother nodded. "Certainly I'd go to him. If I had to walk every step of the way! Though of course, darling, that won't be necessary." She smiled on Jackie fondly. "You won't even have to go in a dirty slow train, or travel for miles in a horse and buggy.
You can fly to him—and be there within a few hours!"

"Oh, Mother... why, of course, I can! Why didn't I think of it!
How did you ever? Oh, you are the dearest, the most understanding mother, the best!"

Evelyn gave her daughter a tight squeeze in response. She bent down to give her a motherly kiss, as well. She knew that Jackie and Jackie would always understand one another, always be close, now.

"I'll phone Paul right away," she said, getting up from the bed.
When Evelyn had an idea she put it through immediately. "He will gladly make all the necessary arrangements. I know. He will probably have to charter a private plane for you, darling. How soon shall I tell him you can be ready?"

"How soon? Oh, Mother! Tell him I'm ready now!" The golden fries leaped back into Jackie's anxious eyes, the soft color flooded her lovely face again.

She was going to Roger. She would be with him within a few short hours. Hope sprang, like a new-born star, bright and luminous, within her heart.

RAISING A FAMILY

By Olive Roberts Barton

Handle the Too Touchy Child With Kid Gloves

There are flowers that die at a touch, even the kiss of a teasing breeze makes them droop and fall. This is the best illustration I can give of the overly sensitive child, mother. He is that way, always was and always will be.

I hold little faith in magic cures.
As I have said, the baby chooses his pattern so early in life, if not before birth itself, that he is largely what he is.

There is Harold, as busy a lad as ever drew breath. He sees life out of both eyes and reaches for it as it comes.
He leaves his feelings at home when he fails to catch a ball. He perseveres on because he can forget himself.

Joan is different, being easily hurt in her vanity. But perhaps she reacts to defects with tempers of anger. This is a sturdier and happier thing, at least, for Joan, than if she nursed her grievances.

But here is Mathilda, sweet, shy and wistful. She cries easily and pleurs to play alone.

Yet Mathilda is so sensitive she cannot bear to hear a word of reproach.
So inclined to be happy only in terms of herself and her emotions, she cannot weather the average experience of children.

NOTICE OF COUNTY SEAT
ELECTION

IN THE COUNTY COURT OF HEMPSTEAD COUNTY, ARKANSAS

IN THE MATTER OF
THE CHANGE OR RE-MOVAL OF THE COUNTY SEAT OF HEMPSTEAD
COUNTY, ARKANSAS

ORDER

Now on this 5th day of May, 1938, the same being a regular adjourned day of the regular term of the County Court of Hempstead County, Arkansas, there comes on to be heard the petition for change or removal of the County Seat of Hempstead County, Arkansas, from Washington, Arkansas, to Hope, Arkansas, in said County, and more than one-third of the qualified voters in said County having joined in said petition, and said petition having been heretofore duly filed in this Court.

And the Court being well and sufficiently advised as to the law and the facts, does proceed to consider the matter and hear the said petition, and from the check of the signatures to the petition against the list of qualified voters of the County, and from the records and papers introduced, and from the oral testimony heard, the Court does find:

THAT the said petition is signed by qualified voters of this County in excess of the number of one-third required by law, and that this said number is in excess of the one-third of the qualified voters of this County required by law, and that the said number of qualified voters having joined in the said petition to the County Court of this County and prayed for the change or removal of the County Seat from Washington, Arkansas, to Hope, Arkansas, in said County, and have embodied in the petition the designation and abstract of title and terms and conditions of the sale or donation, as provided by law; and that the Court is satisfied that a good and valid title can and will be made to the proposed new location; and that the abstract of title to the proposed location, as stated in the petition, does show a fee simple title to the property; and that the deed mentioned in the said petition is in all things as required by law; and that the place at which it is proposed to establish the County Seat is fully designated in the petition; and that said designation embraces a complete and intelligible description of the proposed location; and that each and every matter and allegation of fact is as contained in the said petition; and that this Court has jurisdiction; and that this petition has been duly and properly filed in this Court; and that the said petition should be in all things granted; and that the Court should order an election to be held at the several voting places in this County, directing that the proposal of the petitioners for the change or removal shall be submitted to the qualified voters, as provided by law; and that the said election should be held as required by law on Saturday the 11th day of June, 1938.

IT IS, THEREFORE, BY the Court considered, ordered, and adjudged that the prayer of the said petition be, and the same is hereby, in all things granted, and that the proposition of the petitioners for the change or removal of the County Seat of Hemptstead County, Arkansas, from the town of Washington, Arkansas, to the City of Hope, Arkansas, be submitted to the qualified voters of Hempstead County, Arkansas, at an election to be held at the several voting places in the said County on Saturday, the 11th day of June, 1938, and that the ballots of the voters shall be prepared in accordance with the law; and that the election shall in all things be held as provided and required by law; and that the County Election Commissioners shall fulfill their duties in all things as required by law; and that the sheriff of the County shall fulfill his duties in all things as required by law; and that the judges of said election shall make returns of the results of the said election to the persons and within the time and in the manner as required by law; and that public notice of such proposed change or removal shall be given by publication in the Hope Star, a newspaper published in Hempstead County, Arkansas, at least thirty days before the day fixed for said election, and that such notice shall be published for the time and in the manner required by law; and that the sheriff of this County shall post up in handbill form printed copies of this order in not less than three of the most public places in each township of the County not less than thirty days before the said election; and that said notices be kept posted until after the day of the election, as provided by law; and that each and every person and official charged or required by law to perform or do any manner of act or thing in regard to the said election be, and is hereby, ordered to perform the said duty and obligations, as provided by law, to the end that the said proposal may be legally and properly submitted to the voters of the County under the provisions of the law, and due and legal returns made of the results of said election.

The above is a true copy of the order of the County Court of Hemptstead County, Arkansas, made on the 5th day of May, 1938, and ordering an election on the proposition for the removal of the County seat from Washington, Arkansas, to Hope, Arkansas, in said County; and notice is hereby given that in accordance with the law and in pursuance and in obedience with the order of the said Court, an election will be held at the several

HELP 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES
To Flush out Acids and Other Poisonous Waste

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 Miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood, keep you healthy. Most people pass out about 2 quarts a day of about 2 pounds of waste.
Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the beginning of nagging backache, rheumatism, headache, loss of appetite and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Kidney Pills. Fully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 Miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

"Plenty of de bes' natchel food jes' when dey wants it de mos'. Not jes' a bite at de beginning, den go

That means a good healthy side dressing of Chilean Soda. Because it is natural plant food, it's got plenty of nitrate and small amounts of other plant food elements naturally blended with it. They're not added.
They're there, blended by nature.

So give your crops a natchel side dressing. "Dat's

Garden Lore

God made a garden to rest His eyes After the spaces of earth and skies; God made a garden to rest His heart, Where He might walk sometimes apart.
God made a garden because He saw Life was good by a garden's law; Flowers for love and fruitful trees—Soul and body may grow with them.
God made a garden because He knew There must be work for His sons to do;
Berries to gather, keep mischief out, And a swinging vine is no place for doubt.
God made a garden just to find Another way to be loving—kind;
And the things we see in a garden row
Are the words He has written to tell us so.—Selected.

How's Your Osculation?

If the newly-invented kiss-o-meter is as accurate as it's cracked out to be, the above is osculatory perfection. P. N. Vandekleef, a student, and Dorothy White, radio actress, are shown sending the indicator as high as it will go on the device built at Armour Institute of Technology in Chicago to appraise amorous activity. Experimenters—strictly in the interest of science, of course—grasp brass electrodes in one hand and then go into their act, registering "timid," "synthetic," "passive"—or better. If young Vandekleef and Miss White were at a carnival they would win cigars or something, because they "rang the bell."

Opening the door for this beautiful courtesy was Mrs. T. R. Billingsley, the guests were invited into the "powder room" by Mrs. J. A. Henry, after which they were introduced to the receiving line by Mrs. Fred R. Harrison. The line included Mrs. Mrs. Hugh Smith, the present president and Mrs. Steve Carrigan Jr., Miss Annie Twitcheell, Mrs. Arch Moore, Miss Maggie Bell, and Mrs. J. S. Gibson Sr., past presidents, and Mrs. W. W. Johnson and Mrs. J. T. West, secretary and treasurer of the initial year of the club. Extending hospitality in the reception room were Mrs. W. G. Allison, Mrs. M. H. Barlow, Mrs. C. M. Ayce, Mrs. V. A. Hammonds, Mrs. Ada Swicegood, Mrs. J. H. Arnold, Mrs. Fanny Garrett and Dr. Etta Champlin, inviting guests into the dining room and Mrs. D. B. Thompson and Mrs. Sid Henry.

The dining room courtesies were extended by Mrs. W. R. Hamilton, Miss Beryl Henry and Mrs. Hugh Jones, Mrs. R. M. LaGrone presided over the tea.

Further courtesies for this very delightful occasion were extended by Mrs. O. A. Graves, Mrs. Johnnie McCabe and Mrs. C. D. Lester. Republican Vote Heavy Despite centering of national attention on the Democratic contest for the governorship nomination in Pennsylvania, due to the fury of the fighting, the less spectacular Republican contest between former Gov. Gifford Pinchot and the victor, Judge Arthur H. James, drew out a heavier Republican than Democratic vote. Defeat of Pinchot, running as a progressive anti-organization candidate, lessened possibility of a bolt of Kennedy supporters to the Republican ticket; but James' victory put the warring factions on the Democratic side on notice that they face the most solidified, best organized and most confident party opposition they have encountered since the first Roosevelt campaign.

When 109 chorus girls agree unanimously on the beauty and talent of one of their number, the young lady must really have something. Well, that's precisely what happened to Ethelreda Leopold, pictured above in a classic gown, who was named by her fellow chorines in the movie "Gold Diggers in Paris" to take a trip to New York and Paris with all expenses paid by Warner Brothers. And it's easy enough to see why Ethelreda was picked.

STORIES IN STAMPS"BIRD
FREEDOM"

WHEN America was young the falconoid bald eagle reigned as a monarchial bird, ruling the feathered tribes from Canada to Mexico. Even centuries before the first white man came, the Indians held the eagle in reverence and credited it with divine powers.

So by the time that America had come of age in 1776 and cast about for a symbol of its newfound power, its soaring from the founding fathers chose the American eagle. The first draft of a coat of arms was made just after the signing of the Declaration of Independence. Not until 1782, however, was a design finally chosen, one worked out jointly by William Barton of Philadelphia, and Charles Thompson, secretary of the Continental Congress. It bore the American bald eagle.

From the seal the eagle passed to American coins in 1795. It appeared on a prepaid stamp of the 1851 U. S. series and is shown here on the 10-cent value of the series of 1889, orange color. The eagle rests on a shield.

Quins Growth Is Aided by Oatmeal

Quins Measure Up to Average Requirements—Behavior Is Good

Recent tests and studies have revealed that the Quins' personal behavior is above average. Yvonne, Cecile, and Annette head the group. That is, they have already learned at the early age of four years to help remove the dishes from the table, to hang up their clothes, and perform other minor duties. Yvonne, Cecile and Annette are the leaders.

The Quins, although handicapped by premature birth have made rapid progress and have measured up to all "average requirements." At 15 months they could use a spoon while eating. At 18 months they could turn pages in a picture book. At 21 they could twist the knob while trying to open the door and at 24 months they could tell about their experiences.

So, although handicapped at birth, the Quins are today five of the world's healthiest, happiest babies.

It is interesting to note that Quaker Oats was the cereal selected for the Quins. Quaker Oats, being rich in Vitamin B, helps guard against indigestion, poor appetite and nervousness due to lack of the Vitamin. Quaker Oats also supplies minerals, protein and food energy.

The Quins, however, know nothing about vitamins, and upon questioning would probably say that the reason they eat their food, cereal or otherwise, is because they like it.

Girl Grad's Just Dessert

Fluffy and gleaming, festive and brilliant—the sweet girl graduate's own celebration cake.

When a girl graduates, she takes the cake. And this is how you make it.

Sweet Girl Graduate Cake
Four egg whites, 3 cups sifted cake flour, 3 teaspoons combination baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup butter or other shortening 1 1/2 cup sugar, 1 cup milk, 1/2 teaspoon lemon extract, 4 egg whites stiffly beaten.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually and cream together until light and fluffy. Add flour alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth.

Add lemon extract. Fold in egg whites quickly and thoroughly. Bake in two greased 9-inch layer pans in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for 25 to 30 minutes.

Spread luscious lemon frosting between layers and on top and sides of cake. Decorate top of cake with tiny colored candies and silver dragees.

Luscious Lemon Frosting
One tablespoon grated orange rind, 3 tablespoons butter, 3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 tablespoon water, dash salt. Add orange rind to butter. Cream well. Add part of sugar gradually, blending after each addition. Combine lemon juice and water. Add to creamed mixture, alternately with remaining sugar, until of right consistency to spread. Beat after each addition until smooth. Add salt. Makes enough frosting to cover tops and sides of two 9-inch layers, of top and sides of 8x8x2 inch cake (generously), or about 3 dozen cup cakes.

When a girl graduates, she takes the cake. And this is how you make it.
